RISK FACTORS

The Issuer believes that the factors described below represent the principal risks inherent in investing in the Bonds but the inability of the Issuer to pay interest, principal or other amounts on or in connection with the Bonds may occur for other reasons and the Issuer does not represent that the statements below regarding the risks of holding the Bonds are exhaustive. The realisation of one or more of these risk factors could individually or together with other circumstances affect the results, financial position and prospects of the Group and the occurrence of certain of the risk factors described below could increase the risk of other risk factors described below materialising and/or heighten the consequences arising from those risks factors. In addition, each of the risks highlighted below could adversely affect the value of the Bonds and/or the rights of investors under the Bonds and, as a result, investors could lose some or all of their investment.

Prospective investors should also read the detailed information set out elsewhere in this Prospectus and reach their own views prior to making any investment decision. Words and expressions defined in the “Terms and Conditions of the Bonds” below or elsewhere in this Prospectus have the same meanings in this section.

1 FACTORS THAT MAY AFFECT THE ISSUER’S ABILITY TO SATISFY THEIR OBLIGATIONS UNDER THE BONDS, AS APPLICABLE

Risks related to the Group’s business activities and industry

Customer and consumer preference risk

The primary buyers of the Group’s products are companies in the food and beverages industries, as well as manufacturers of cosmetics, perfumes and household products who use the products to produce consumer goods. As a result, the Group is exposed to changes from time to time at its customers and their ways of working with the Group and the Group’s commercial success depends to a large extent on the success of the products of its customers for which it supplies flavours or fragrances.

The success of the end products depends on consumer spending, socio-economic factors and the Group’s and its customers’ early identification and correct assessment of consumer market trends. The demand for the end products of its customers (both in terms of what fragrances and flavours the end users want to consume and from where they acquire them) is based on social and consumer spending habits and market trends, which are influenced by a number of socio-economic factors, including, for example, changing work and leisure habits and the growing awareness of health issues in all segments of the population and age groups. This continually changing market environment places considerable demands on the Group and its customers.

The Group or its customers may not correctly identify and assess consumer spending or market trends and the demand for goods in which its products are used may decline. In addition, the Group can exercise only limited influence over its customers’ assessment of consumer spending habits and market trends or whether its customers market their products successfully. Any of these factors could have a material adverse impact on the Group’s business, operations and financial condition, and could therefore have a material adverse effect on the Issuer’s ability to fulfil its obligations under the Bonds.

Competition risk and market developments

The global market for fragrances and flavours is characterised by significant purchasing power exercised by the manufacturers of consumer goods, which increases competition among suppliers of fragrances and flavours, and a trend toward consolidation. Market developments such as consolidation in the consumer goods sector and the need for rapid marketing of global brands continue to put considerable downward pressure on the prices that the Group may charge its customers, while at the same time increasing the cost of doing business. As products have a limited life-span of approximately three years on average, there are no long-term supply contracts in the flavour and fragrance industry. To compete successfully in this environment and achieve its strategic goals, the Group must maintain a high level of innovation and make considerable investments in product development and research in order to anticipate the customers’ needs and provide the rapid service that is required. These investments and expenses will not necessarily result in higher income or improved market position.

In addition, changes in behaviour of existing competitors or new entrants may change the competitive landscape, in particular in relation to new business models. This may impact negatively the Group’s competitive position in one or more markets and may have a material adverse effect on the business, operations, financial condition or prospects of the Issuer or the Group.

The Group addresses each of these strategic risks by monitoring the competitive landscape, regularly reviewing its own business model and strategy, managing relationships with its customers and gathering consumer intelligence. However, there can be no assurance that such measures will sufficiently address the risks and the occurrence of any of these risks may result in greater volatility in the value of the Group’s investments and may materially and adversely affect the performance and prospects of the Group. In turn, this could have a material adverse effect on the Issuer’s ability to fulfil its obligations under the Bonds.

Disruption of supply chains or suppliers

A significant portion of the Group's production costs are attributable to raw materials, such as vegetable oils, essences, extracts derived from fruit, vegetables, flowers and woods, as well as other plant substances and organic materials. Disruptions in the supply or quality of ingredients or rising prices for ingredients purchased could adversely affect the Group's ability to produce at competitive prices and in a timely manner or disruption to the operation of the Group and use of those ingredients and, accordingly, its results of operations and profitability. Raw materials prices have been volatile in the past and availability and pricing of raw materials can be affected by (among other things) crop size and quality, the political situation in certain countries, demand balance, alternative land use, climate change or a breakdown at one or more of the Group's suppliers. In addition, the emergence of COVID-19 has the potential to temporarily impact global economic growth through the disruption of supply chains. As at the date of this Prospectus, concerns regarding COVID-19 have had a minimal effect on the Group's business. In the medium to long term, if the spread of COVID-19 is prolonged, or further diseases emerge that give rise to similar macroeconomic effects, the Group and/or the Group's suppliers may face disruption and/or increased costs as a result of supply shortages in raw materials.

The Group's procurement function has a process to monitor and manage supply chain risks arising from raw materials. Moreover, supply and price volatility are monitored through a cross-functional risk management process which is integrated with global supply chain management and enables the Group to mitigate raw materials sourcing risks.

Furthermore, the Group uses petrochemicals to manufacture its products. The prices of petrochemicals depend in part on crude oil prices, which have been subject to considerable volatility in the past. The Group may not be able to pass on increases in raw material prices to its customers, which may materially adversely affect its business, results of operations and financial condition, and therefore the Issuer's ability to fulfil its obligations under the Bonds.

Business model risk

The Group's business model is geared towards its strategy of creating value for its stakeholders through responsible growth and shared success, with a key element being the creation of additional value through acquisitions (see further, the risk factor titled "Acquisition of DDW, The Color House and Myrissi" below). It focuses on developing five areas of capital: financial capital, innovative capabilities (intellectual capital), people and culture (human capital), sourcing and operations (natural and manufactured capital) and good governance (social and relationship capital). The Group aims to achieve these aims through geographic expansion, customer diversification, scaling up and expanding beyond flavours and fragrances, as well as the exploitation of its other strengths.

However, the Group's business model might become obsolete, specifically through the advent of digitisation. This may have a material adverse effect on the business, operations, financial condition or prospects of the Group, which in turn could have a material adverse effect on the Issuer's ability to fulfil its obligations under the Bonds.

The deterioration in global economic conditions may adversely affect the Group's business, results of operations and financial condition

In the approximately ten years following the global financial crisis, global economic conditions have deteriorated resulting in recessionary pressures and a decline in consumer confidence and economic growth. These conditions have led to economic contractions in mature economies and reduced growth rates in developing markets. Despite fiscal and monetary intervention, it is possible that consumer discretionary spending and global growth rates may continue to fall. Reduced consumer spending over this period has caused changes in order patterns of the Group's customers, including order cancellations and destocking of their inventory levels, which decreased the Group's sales, especially in discretionary categories such as fine fragrances. Extreme economic conditions, including both hyperinflation and deflation, could negatively affect the Group's business. In addition, the impact of COVID-19 on economic conditions is volatile and uncertain, and may negatively affect the Group in ways that are not currently known or foreseen. The measures that may be taken by governments, regulators, communities and businesses (including the Group) to respond to an outbreak of COVID-19 could also lead to material or prolonged disruptions to the Group's business. If current levels of economic deterioration and volatility continue or worsen, the Group may experience an adverse impact, which may be material, on its business, results of operations and financial condition, and therefore the Issuer's ability to fulfil its obligations under the Bonds.

Acquisitions of Custom Essence, DDW, The Color House and Myrissi

On 14 April 2021, the Issuer announced that it has successfully closed the acquisition of Myrissi.

On 3 December 2021, the Issuer announced that it has closed the acquisition of Custom Essence, a US based fragrance creation house.

On 9 December 2021, the Issuer announced that it had successfully completed the acquisition of DDW, The Color House, a US based natural color company.

The integration of certain operations and deviation from the assumptions the Group has made in respect of the business benefits of the acquisitions may have a material adverse effect on its results of operations and financial condition. In addition, the Group may incur higher restructuring costs in connection with the acquisitions than expected. Although the Group expects that the realisation of efficiencies related to the acquisitions will offset any additional expenses incurred over time and result in net cost savings, there can be no assurance that this net benefit will be achieved in the near future or at all. Where the Group is unable to realise such efficiencies, this may have a material adverse effect on the Group's business, financial condition and results of operations and therefore the Issuer's ability to fulfil its obligations under the Bonds.

Risks related to the Group's financial situation

The current volatility in the financial and credit markets may adversely affect the Group's financial condition and results of operations

The volatility and disruption to the capital and credit markets over the past approximately ten years has resulted in a substantial tightening of the credit markets, including lending by financial institutions which is a source of credit for the Group's, as well as its customers' and suppliers' borrowing and liquidity. This tightening of the credit markets has increased the cost of capital and reduced the availability of credit. In such an environment, it may be more difficult and costly for the Group to refinance its maturing financial liabilities. In addition, if the financial condition of the Group's customers or suppliers is negatively affected by illiquidity, their difficulties may also adversely affect the Issuer and/or the Group. These factors could therefore have a material adverse effect on the financial condition and results of operations of the Group and, in turn, the Issuer's ability to fulfil its obligations under the Bonds.

Foreign exchange risk

The Group operates across the world and is exposed to movements in foreign currencies affecting its net income and financial position. Foreign exchange risk arises from future commercial transactions, recognised assets and liabilities, and net investments in foreign operations. It is the Group's policy to enter into derivative transactions to hedge current, forecasted foreign currency transactions, and translation risk arising from certain investments in foreign operations with a functional currency different from the Group's presentation currency. While these are hedges related to underlying business transactions, the Group generally does not apply hedge accounting on transactions related to management of its foreign exchange risk. The Group has, however, applied hedge accounting on the foreign exchange risk related to certain acquisitions, such as that of Naturex in 2018 and of Albert Vieille SAS, Ungerer and Indena in 2020 as well as in Euro straight bonds issued in 2018 and 2020. For more details, see page 60 of the Issuer 2021 Governance, Compensation and Financial Report. Group Treasury centrally manages foreign exchange risk management activities against the functional currency of each subsidiary, and is required to hedge, whenever cost-effective, their largest exposures.

However, natural hedges and the hedging through derivative financial instruments may not fully offset adverse currency fluctuations. In addition, while the Group conducts many of its operations outside Switzerland, its accounts are maintained and results are reported in Swiss francs. Consequently, its financial condition and results of operations have been in the past, and are likely to be, affected by the translation risks associated with currency fluctuations. Such currency fluctuations could have a material adverse effect on the financial condition and results of operations of the Group and, in turn, the Issuer's ability to fulfil its obligations under the Bonds.

Interest rate risk

The Group is exposed to interest rate risk because entities in the Group borrow funds at both fixed and floating interest rates, and invests in debt financial instruments. Borrowings issued at variable rates expose the Group to cash flow interest rate risk which is partially counterbalanced by cash held at variable rates. Borrowings issued at fixed rates expose the Group to fair value interest rate risk. Group Treasury manages interest rate risk centrally by simulating various scenarios on liabilities taking into consideration refinancing, renewal of existing positions and hedging. Hedging strategies are applied by either positioning the liabilities or protecting interest expense through different interest cycles. Hedging activities are regularly evaluated to align interest rate views and defined risk limits. Group Treasury manages interest rate risk mainly by the use of interest rate swap contracts.

However, the management of interest rate risk may not fully offset adverse interest rate fluctuations, and such fluctuations, therefore, may have a material adverse effect on the results of operations and financial condition of the Group and the ability of the Issuer to fulfil its obligations under the Bonds.

Price risk

The Group is exposed to equity price risk arising from equity investments held classified at fair value through income statement. The Group manages its price risk through a diversification of portfolios within the limits approved by the Issuer's Board of Directors. The Group holds its own shares to meet future expected obligations under its various share-based payment schemes. However, despite such measures, there can be no assurance that a future fluctuation in equity prices will not have a material adverse effect on the Group's financial condition and results of operations and on the Issuer's ability to fulfil its obligations under the Bonds.

Credit risk

Credit risk refers to the risk that a counterparty will default on its contractual obligations resulting in a financial loss to the Group. Commercial credit risk is managed by the Group's subsidiaries and monitored on a Group basis whilst counterparty risk related to financial institutions is centrally managed within the Group Treasury function.

Trade receivables are subject to a policy of active risk management which focuses on the assessment of country risk, credit limits, ongoing credit evaluation and account monitoring procedures. Generally, the Group has no significant concentration of trade receivables or commercial counterparty credit risk, due to the large number of customers that the Group deals with and their wide geographical spread. Countries, credit limits and exposures are continuously monitored. The credit risk on liquid funds, derivatives and other monetary financial assets is limited because the counterparties are financial institutions with investment grade ratings. However, there can be no assurance that such counterparty default will not occur or that counterparty default will not have a material adverse effect on the Group's financial condition and results of operations, and consequently the Issuer's ability to fulfil its obligations under the Bonds.

Liquidity risk

The Group manages liquidity risk by maintaining sufficient cash, marketable securities, availability of funds through an adequate amount of committed credit facilities and the ability to close out market positions. Due to the dynamic nature of the underlying businesses, Group Treasury maintains flexibility in funding by maintaining availability under committed and uncommitted credit lines.

Group Treasury monitors and manages cash at the Group level and defines the maximum cash level at subsidiary level. Cash surpluses held by subsidiaries over and above amounts required for working capital management are transferred to the central treasury centre. The surplus of cash is generally invested in interest bearing current accounts, time deposits, money market deposits and funds. When necessary, intercompany loans are granted by the Group to subsidiaries to meet their non-recurrent payment obligations. However, there can be no assurance that a lack of sufficient liquidity will not arise, and if so, that it will not have a material adverse effect on the Group's financial condition and results of operations and, consequently, the Issuer's ability to fulfil its obligations under the Bonds.

Legal and regulatory risks

Product quality and product safety risk

A faulty product or one that is not compliant with regulations or is non-performing could expose the Group to consumer health issues, customer complaints, warranty claims, returns and re-runs, product liability claims or litigation and lead to loss of revenues, market share and business reputation. The Group's flavour and fragrance product safety assessment programme is designed to ensure that all products are safe for consumer use. At the core of the programme is a systematic evaluation of all ingredients for both human and environmental safety, as required, prior to their inclusion in the Group's raw material palette. Products are created to comply with all appropriate end consumer product safety regulations in the markets in which they will be sold. The Group's global IT systems control product formulations in order to ensure that raw materials are used as intended when products are manufactured in the Group's production facilities, which are themselves certified to internationally recognised quality standards.

In addition, the Group supports, and in many cases leads, industry-wide programmes of the respective industry association (the International Fragrance Association and the International Organization of the Flavor Industry) for assuring the safe use of flavours and fragrances in consumer products.

However, while the Group has instituted measures to manufacture its products in accordance with appropriate quality-control standards, there can be no assurance that each of its products is free of defects or that they will not lead to any of the consequences listed above, including product liability or other claims relating to product quality. Product liability or other claims in relation to the Group's products and services could result in reduced sales, recalls, injury or consequential damages to customers or third parties, or harm to our reputation. Actual or perceived quality defects could adversely affect sales and require recalls. Further, express or implied warranties and strict product liability laws in jurisdictions such as the United States could lead to significant damage claims which we may be forced to settle, regardless of fault. Any such events occurring could materially adversely affect the business, results of operations or financial condition of the Group and, therefore, the Issuer's abilities to fulfil their obligations under the Bonds.

Legal and compliance risks

Should the Group's employees, especially key individuals within the organisation, including members of the Board of Directors, members of the Issuer's Executive Committee or senior management, display or tolerate behaviour that is illegal or unethical, this could lead to reputational as well as financial damage to the Issuer and the Group. The Group's Corporate Ethics and Compliance function undertakes a regular assessment of the Group's legal and compliance risks at local and global levels and addresses any issues with the Executive Committee and the Audit Committee. Non-compliant behaviour is investigated and sanctioned in accordance with a comprehensive procedure. However, there can be no assurance that such assessments, investigations and sanctions operate to deter such behaviour or, if such behaviour occurs, mitigate reputational and/or financial damage to the Issuer and the Group. As a result, such behaviours could materially adversely affect the business, results of operations or financial condition of the Group and, therefore, the Issuer's ability to fulfil its obligations under the Bonds.

Intellectual property

The Group's business depends on its intellectual property, which consists both of patented molecules and processes and the formulas used to create its fragrances and flavours. These formulas are not patented but are highly confidential proprietary business information, accessible to very few people within the Group's business. Given the increased emphasis on innovation and product development in the fragrance and flavour business, it is likely that intellectual property will continue to gain importance in its business. The loss of confidentiality with respect to proprietary formulas or loss of access to them, the expiration or infringement of its intellectual property rights or legal challenges to those rights could have a material adverse impact on the Group's business, results of operations and financial condition and, therefore, could have a material adverse effect on the Issuer's ability to fulfil its obligations under the Bonds.

Likewise, there can be no assurance that all patents for which the Group has applied or expects to apply will be issued. Insufficient protection or actual infringement of intellectual property could limit the Group's ability to profitably utilise technology advantages gained through expensive research and development. This could materially adversely affect the Group's business, results of operations, business prospects and market position and, therefore, the Issuer's ability to fulfil its obligations under the Bonds.

Internal control risks

Information technology risk

In a fast-moving digital world, information and communication technologies are critical for the Group to address new consumer behaviours and to collaborate with its customers to give them the best experience. However, digitalisation also creates new threats and requires a permanent monitoring of information security risks and an extension of the risk assessment scope. In addition to continuously adapting its information and network systems, the Group focuses on extensive awareness programmes to all employees as critical stakeholders in the protection of the digital space. However, there can be no assurance that a future information security breach or other unforeseen event relating to information technology risk will not have a material adverse effect on the Group's business, financial condition and results of operations and, therefore, the Issuer's ability to fulfil its obligations under the Bonds.

Environmental, social and governance risk

Risk of climate change and water scarcity

Climate change may lead to a number of issues which in turn impact on the Group's ability to operate. These issues may include water scarcity at one or more of the Group's manufacturing sites or issues with our supplies, in particular the availability of our key natural resources. As such, climate change poses a significant risk for the Group.

However, the Group believes that climate change presents an opportunity to adapt its processes and act to mitigate its effects. The Group addresses climate change risk through a comprehensive programme designed to minimise its impact on climate change and move to a low carbon economy, including (i) implementing a climate change agenda based on greenhouse gas ("GHG") emission reduction targets; (ii) working to reduce the environmental impact of its activities; (iii) involving its supply chain to reduce their GHG emissions; (iv) working on side-stream valuation; and (v) its Water Stewardship Programme to ensure water risks are managed and monitored. For more details, see page 71-87 of the Issuer 2021 Integrated Annual Report.

However, the potential of the risks of additional expenses or other impacts on the Group's activities as a result of climate change or water scarcity remain, despite the Group's measures to operate sustainably, and may have a material adverse effect on the business, operations or financial condition of the Group, which in turn could have a material adverse effect on the Issuer's ability to fulfil its obligations under the Bonds.

Environment, health and safety and operational risk management

Most of the countries in which the Group operates regulate and set standards in environmental matters and substantial liabilities (such as fines, reputational impact or losing the Group's licence to operate) can follow from violations of environmental rules and standards, should the Group operate in a way that is harmful to the environment and/or causes community nuisance such as odour emissions or waste water. In addition, applicable environmental laws and regulations are constantly amended to reflect evolving environmental technology, which could require costly measures in the future.

The Group's environment, health and safety ("EHS") function regularly carries out comprehensive risk assessments at the Group's production and major commercial sites. In 2019, the EHS Centre of Expertise continued to refine the Group's process risk analysis methodology and capabilities in line with leading industry standards in order to identify actions and manage them internally using a proprietary EHS Management System with formally documented solutions and closure records. Its main focus is the chemical and powder handling processes. Also, to facilitate the management of specific EHS risks, the EHS team has developed visual risk portfolios that show mitigation measures and progress of improvement actions. The internal EHS auditing process was also reviewed and adapted to cover other technical aspects, in addition to the EHS Management System part.

The Group's growth path of organic expansion and acquisitions involves some essential large-scale projects. The EHS function, as a full team member, is involved from the beginning of each project to assess and minimise risks. The EHS teams support the design of all new building activities so that, in EHS terms, the plants the Group builds today use learnings from the past and are fit for the future. In 2019, a number of new technologies for environmental protection in the area of odour emissions control were successfully tested on the Group's sites.

The Group may incur significant additional costs and liabilities to comply with environmental laws and regulations in the future. In addition, the above measures being undertaken by the Group may not be successful to ensure compliance with environmental regulations and the Group may face substantial liabilities. Each of these scenarios could have a material adverse impact on the Group's business, results of operations and financial condition, which in turn could have a material adverse effect on the Issuer's ability to fulfil its obligations under the Bonds.

2 RISKS RELATING TO THE ISSUER

The Issuer has no material assets or sources of revenue

The Issuer is not an operating company. The principal activity of the Issuer is to finance the business operations of the Group by incurring financial indebtedness (including by issuing the Bonds) and on-lending the proceeds thereof to or for the benefit of members of the Group. The ability of the Issuer to satisfy its obligations in respect of the Bonds is influenced by amounts payable in respect of certain intercompany loans and support from other members of the Group. Any failure of the other members of the Group may have a material adverse impact on the financial condition of the Issuer and the ability of the Issuer to service its respective obligations under the Bonds.

3 FACTORS WHICH ARE MATERIAL FOR THE PURPOSE OF ASSESSING THE MARKET RISKS ASSOCIATED WITH THE BONDS

Value of the Bonds

The market value of the Bonds will be affected by the creditworthiness of the Issuer, and that of the Group and a number of additional factors including market interest and yield rates. The price at which a Bondholder will be able to sell the Bonds may be at a discount, which could be substantial, from the Placement Price or the purchase price paid by such Bondholder.

Investors are exposed to risks associated with fixed interest rate securities

A holder of securities with a fixed interest rate, such as the Bonds, is exposed to the risk that the price of such securities falls as a result of increasing market interest rates. While the interest rate of the Bonds is fixed, the interest rates in the capital markets (market interest rates) typically change on a daily basis. As the market interest rate changes, the price of the Bonds changes typically in the opposite direction. If the market interest rate increases, the price of the Bonds would typically fall and if the market interest rate falls, the price of the Bonds would typically increase. Therefore, Bondholders should be aware that movements of the market interest rate can adversely affect the price of the Bonds and can lead to losses if Bondholders sell their Bonds.

Risks relating to the rating on the Bonds

S&P and Moody's produce a solicited rating for the Issuer on a regular basis and S&P has produced a rating for the Bonds. In addition, other rating agencies may assign credit ratings to the Issuer, other members of the Group or to the Bonds with or without any solicitation from the Group and without any provision of information from the Group. If such unsolicited ratings are lower than the comparable ratings assigned to the Issuer or the Bonds by S&P and Moody, those unsolicited ratings could have an adverse effect on the market value of the Bonds.

A credit rating is not a recommendation to buy, sell or hold securities and may be subject to revision or withdrawal at any time by the assigning rating organisation. A downgrade or potential downgrade in these ratings, the assignment of a new rating that is lower than existing ratings, or the withdrawal of any rating assigned to any member of the Group could adversely affect the price and liquidity of the Bonds. The rating may not reflect the potential impact of all risks related to structure, market, or any other additional factors that may affect the value of the Bonds.

An active secondary market in respect of the Bonds may never be established or may be illiquid and this would adversely affect the value at which an investor could sell its Bonds

The Bonds may have no established trading market when issued, and one may never develop or be maintained. If a market does develop, it may not be very liquid. Therefore, investors may not be able to sell their Bonds easily or at prices that will provide them with a yield comparable to similar investments that have a developed secondary market. Illiquidity may have a severely adverse effect on the market value of Bonds.

In addition, it is possible that the Bonds may be traded in amounts that are not integral multiples of the minimum Specified Denomination. A Bondholder may find Bonds which are not integral multiples of the minimum Specified Denomination illiquid and difficult to trade.

No legal and tax advice, change in law

Each prospective investor should consult its own advisers as to legal, tax and related aspects of an investment in the Bonds. A Bondholder's effective yield on the Bonds may be diminished by the tax impact on that Bondholder of its investment in the Bonds.

A Bondholder's actual yield on the Bonds may be reduced from the stated yield by transaction costs.

The Conditions of the Bonds are based on Swiss law in effect as at the date of this Prospectus. No assurance can be given as to the impact of any possible judicial decision or change to Swiss laws or administrative practice after the date of this Prospectus and any such change could materially adversely impact the value of any Bonds affected by it.

If an investor holds Bonds which are not denominated in the investor's home currency, it will be exposed to movements in exchange rates adversely affecting the value of his holding. In addition, the imposition of exchange controls in relation to any Bonds could result in an investor not receiving payments on those Bonds

The Issuer will pay principal and interest on the Bonds in Swiss Franc (CHF). This presents certain risks relating to currency conversions if an investor's financial activities are denominated principally in a currency or currency unit (the "Investor's Currency") other than CHF. These include the risk that exchange rates may significantly change (including changes due to devaluation of CHF or revaluation of the Investor's Currency) and the risk that authorities with jurisdiction over the Investor's Currency may impose or modify exchange controls. An appreciation in the value of the Investor's Currency relative to CHF would decrease (i) the Investor's Currency-equivalent yield on the Bonds, (ii) the Investor's Currency-equivalent value of the principal payable on the Bonds and (iii) the Investor's Currency-equivalent market value of the Bonds.

Government and monetary authorities may impose (as some have done in the past) exchange controls that could adversely affect an applicable exchange rate or the ability of the Issuer to make payments in respect of the Bonds. As a result, investors may receive less interest or principal than expected, or no interest or principal.

Patents and licenses

The Group believes that its competitive position significantly depends upon its research, development, manufacturing, and marketing capabilities and not just its patents. Protecting its technological assets through obtaining and enforcing intellectual property rights, including patents, however, is important. The Group does not consider that its business is materially dependent on any single patents, but patents, taken as a whole, are a significant element contributing to its business. In addition to patents, the Group also possesses other intellectual property, including trademarks, know-how and trade secrets.

Court, arbitral and administrative proceedings

Save as disclosed in this Prospectus, the Issuer is not or has not been involved in any governmental, legal or arbitration proceedings (including any such proceedings which are pending or threatened of which the Issuer is aware) which may have, or have had in the recent past, significant effects on the financial position or profitability of the Issuer.

Business activities on group-wide, consolidated basis

The Group produces thousands of fragrance and flavour compounds which are composed of a large number of ingredients, natural and synthetic, blended using formulas created by the Group's perfumers and flavourists. The flavours and fragrances which the Group develops are a key differentiating component of its customers' end products. The flavour and fragrance industry has grown steadily in recent years and the total market value is estimated to be worth approximately $26 billion.

Most of the Group's products are customised to meet the needs of its customers. The success of the Group's fragrance and flavour compounds is dependent on the success of the end consumer products in which they are used. As a result, in developing new products, the Group relies on its knowledge of the rapidly changing demands of end consumers.

The Group's industry leadership is underpinned by a commitment to invest significantly in research and development programmes and consumer understanding tools. The Group's extensive research and development and customer focus allows it to consistently deliver new and innovative tastes and scents.

The Group sells its flavour compounds to food and beverage manufacturers, which span key segments including beverages, sweet goods, savoury snacks and dairy. It sells its fragrance compounds to manufacturers serving end-consumer markets with fragrances for personal, home and laundry care brands as well as prestige perfumes. The Group has a diversified client base ranging from multinational companies to regional and local clients and from premium brands to private labels (i.e. large supermarket chains that purchase flavours and fragrances for use in their own branded products). The Group's clients include some of the world's most respected companies and brands.

Through the Group's global sales network, it has a leading presence in all major markets in Europe, Africa and the Middle East, North America, Latin America and Asia Pacific.

The Group manages liquidity by maintaining sufficient cash, marketable securities, availability of funds through an adequate amount of committed credit facilities (including access to a CHF 750 million syndicated revolving facility, maturing in June 2023) and the ability to close out market positions. Due to the dynamic nature of the underlying business, the Group maintains flexibility in funding by maintaining availability under committed and uncommitted lines.

Because of its industry leadership and global footprint position, its naturally hedged business portfolio (customers products, geography) and the resources and experience committed to address possible extraordinary events (i.e. Covid), the Group is well placed to address extraordinary events in an efficient manner and avoid material adverse effects on its financial condition.

As detailed on page 25 of its investor presentation dated 28 January 2022 (document incorporated by reference), the Group's business prospects for 2021-2025 are driving sustainable performance (4-5% organic sales growth and >12% free cashflow compared to sales) and acting for good with purpose linked targets (reduction of environmental footprint, diversity and inclusion, people's wellbeing).

The information above includes statements that constitute "forward-looking statements". By their very nature, forward-looking statements involve inherent risks and uncertainties, both general and specific, and risks exist that prospects, predictions, forecasts, projections and other outcomes described or implied in forward-looking statements will not be achieved. See cautionary statement regarding "Forward-Looking Statements" on page 8 of this Prospectus.

Own equity securities

As of the date of this Prospectus, the Issuer holds 6'772 of its own registered shares (Namenaktien).

Trading venue shares

The Issuer's registered shares are listed at SIX Swiss Exchange.

No material changes since the most recent financial statements

Except as disclosed in this Prospectus, there has been no material adverse change in the financial condition or operations of the Issuer since 31 December 2021, which would materially affect its ability to carry out its obligations under the Bonds.

TAXATION

The following is a summary of certain tax implications under the laws of Switzerland as they may affect investors. It applies only to persons who are beneficial owners of Bonds and may not apply to certain classes of persons. The Issuer makes no representations as to the completeness of the information nor undertake any liability of whatsoever nature for the tax implications for investors. Potential investors are strongly advised to consult their own professional advisers in light of their particular circumstances.

Swiss Federal Withholding Tax

Payments by the Issuer on Bonds issued before 1 January 2023 which classify as interest (including payments reflecting accrued interest) will be subject to Swiss federal withholding tax (Verrechnungssteuer) at a rate of 35%.

A holder of a Bond who is an individual resident in Switzerland and who holds the Bond as private asset and who duly reports the gross amount of the taxable payment in his or her tax return and, a holder who is a legal entity or an individual holding the Bond in a Swiss business and who includes such payment as earnings in its income statement, and, who in each case is the beneficial owner of the taxable payment, is entitled to a full refund of or a full tax credit for the Swiss withholding tax, provided certain other conditions are met.

A holder of a Bond who is resident outside Switzerland and who during the taxation year has not engaged in a trade or business carried on through a permanent establishment in Switzerland to which such Bond is attributable may be able to claim a full or partial refund of the Swiss withholding tax by virtue of the provisions of a double taxation treaty, if any, between Switzerland and his or her country of residence.

Swiss Federal Securities Turnover Tax

The issue and the sale of a Bond on the issuance day (primary market transaction) are not subject to Swiss federal securities turnover tax (Umsatzabgabe). Secondary market dealings in Bonds may be subject to the Swiss federal securities turnover tax at a rate of up to 0.15% of the purchase price of the Bonds, however, only if a securities dealer in Switzerland or Liechtenstein, as defined in the Swiss federal stamp duty act (Bundesgesetz über die Stempelabgaben), is a party or acts as an intermediary to the transaction and no exemption applies.

On 17 December 2021 the Swiss parliament adopted an amendment of the Swiss federal stamp duty act which abolishes the Swiss federal securities turnover tax on Bonds of Swiss issuers. The amendment is subject to an optional referendum. If the referendum is not successful, the amendment can enter into force at the earliest in 2023. If the referendum is successful, transactions on the secondary market in bonds of Swiss issuers remain subject to Swiss federal securities turnover tax.

Income Taxation on Principal or Interest

a) Bonds Held by Non-Swiss Holders

Payments of interest and repayment of principal by the Issuer to, and gain realized on the sale or redemption of Bonds by, a holder of Bonds who is not a resident of Switzerland and who during the current taxation year has not engaged in a trade or business through a permanent establishment in Switzerland to which such Bond is attributable will not be subject to any Swiss federal, cantonal or communal income tax in respect of such Bond.

For the potential new Swiss withholding tax legislation, see above "—Swiss Federal Withholding Tax".

b) Bonds Held as Private Assets by a Swiss Resident Holder

Individuals who are resident in Switzerland and who hold Bonds as private assets are required to include all payments of interest on such Bonds in their personal income tax return for the relevant tax period and will be taxable on any net taxable income for such tax period.

In principle a capital gain, including a gain relating interest accrued realized on the sale or redemption of Bonds by such a Swiss resident holder, is a tax-free private capital gain, and, conversely, a respective loss on the Bond is a non-tax-deductible private capital loss. Some exceptions are described below.

Bonds without a "predominant one-time interest payment": Holders of Bonds without a predominant onetime interest payment (the yield-to-maturity predominantly derives from periodic interest payments and not from a onetime interest payment) who are individuals receive payments of interest on Bonds (either in the form of periodic interest payments or as a one-time-interest-payment such as an issue discount or a repayment premium) are required to include such payments in their personal income tax return and will be taxable on any net taxable income (including the payments of interest on the Bonds) for the relevant tax period. The Holder who receives the one-time-interest-payment on redemption date is taxed on the whole one-time-interest-payment irrespective of when he or she purchased the bond.

Bonds with a "predominant one-time interest payment": In the case of bonds with a "predominant one-time interest payment" (the yield-to-maturity predominantly derives from a one-time-interest-payment such as an original issue discount or a repayment premium and not from periodic interest payments), the periodic interest payments as well as the increase of the value of the bond component during the holding period are taxable. Depending on the Bond, the increase of the value of the bond component either equals the positive difference (including any capital and foreign exchange gain) between the amount received upon sale or redemption and the issue price (if the bonds were purchased thereafter, so-called pure differential taxation method). For Bonds for which a bond floor is calculated, the increase of the value of the bond floor during the holding period (bond floor at the moment of sale or redemption minus bond floor at the moment of purchase, so-called modified differential taxation method) is taxable.

If the Bond is denominated in foreign currency, the sales price or redemption amount as well as the purchase or issue price each have to be converted into Swiss Francs at the prevailing exchange rate at sale or redemption and at purchase. The same applies for the bond floor. Losses realized on the sale of bonds with a "predominant onetime interest payment" may be offset against gains realized within the same tax period on the sale of any bonds with a "predominant one-time interest payment".

c) Bonds Held as Swiss Business Assets and by Private Persons Classified as Professional Securities Dealers

Individuals who hold Bonds as part of a business in Switzerland and Swiss resident corporate taxpayers and corporate taxpayers resident abroad holding Bonds as part of a permanent establishment in Switzerland, are required to recognize the payments of interest and any gain realized on the sale or redemption of such Bonds (including a gain relating to interest accrued) and any loss on such Bonds in their income statement for the respective tax period and will be taxable on any net taxable earnings for such period. The same taxation treatment also applies to Swiss resident individuals who, for income tax purposes, are classified as "professional securities dealers" for reasons of, inter alia, frequent dealings and leveraged investments in securities.

Automatic Exchange of Information in Tax Matters

The Automatic Exchange of Information in Tax Matters ("AEI") is a global initiative led by the Organization of Economic Co-Operation and Development ("OECD"). It aims to establish a universal standard for automatic exchange of tax information and to increase tax transparency. Jurisdictions that are committed to implement or have implemented the AEI (such as Switzerland, the EU member countries and many other jurisdictions worldwide) require their Reporting Financial Institutions in accordance with the respective local implementing law to determine the tax residence(s) of their account holders and controlling persons (as applicable) and, in case of reportable accounts, report certain identification information, account information and financial information (including the account balance and related payments such as interest, dividends, other income and gross proceeds) to the local tax authority which will then exchange the information received with the tax authorities in the relevant reportable jurisdictions.

More specifically, Switzerland has concluded a multilateral AEI agreement with the EU (replacing the EU savings tax agreement) and has concluded bilateral AEI agreements with several non-EU countries. In accordance with such multilateral agreements and bilateral agreements and the implementing laws of Switzerland, Switzerland has begun exchange data so collected, and such data may include data about payments made in respect of the Bonds.
